Arvel Bird to Perform at Georgia Frontier Days April 28 – May 1, 2011

STONE MOUNTAIN, GA (April 24, 2011) – Internationally acclaimed Native American flutist and violinist Arvel Bird will appear at the Georgia Frontier Days, April 29 through May 1, 2011, at the Antebellum Estate in Stone Mountain Park, Georgia. Georgia Frontier Days is a journey through hundreds of years of history with live demonstrations of pre-Revolutionary times, the pioneer era and the Civil War.

Arvel, along with musician JJ Kent, will stroll the grounds of the Antebellum Estate and play for visitors. It's an opportunity to interact with Arvel up close and personal. Frontier Days runs Thursday and Friday, April 28-29 from 9 am to 3 pm, and Saturday through Sunday, April 30 through May 1, from 10 am to 5 pm. Tickets are $11 for a day pass to the Park. For more information visit Stone Mountain Park or call (800) 401-2407.

About Arvel Bird: Award-winning Native American Flutist/Violinist Arvel Bird is known around the world for his dramatic connection between Native American and Celtic traditions, consistently playing to sell-out crowds. Dubbed "Lord of the Strings" by fans and music critics, his music evokes the soul of North American history and is thoroughly entertaining, but also enlightening and humanizing. Classically trained on the violin, Bird began his career touring with country legends Glen Campbell, Loretta Lynn, and Louise Mandrell before embarking on his solo career. He now tours 365 days a year, entertaining audiences around the world. Bird has release two new albums this year: Storyteller, which captures the captivating stories Arvel tells during live performances, and From the Heart of a Paiute, a flute album dedicated to the many Native American Flute Makers and their flutes.
